Dear Mr. Samm;

I have flown seven airaces last two years and five of them requires full power operation for over 2000 miles. The other two required Speed and fuel ratio.

MATRIX was used in the Lycoming and Continental race and Flight School engines and in all cases I found a smoother, cooler engine with averaging a 150 RPM's increase in turn up.

None of my Matrix engines have come up for overhaul to date but I have seen two Matrix Aircraft engines at Overhaul and I must say they look very good.

I wish to thank you for developing such a fine product for my aircraft engines.

Yours Truly,

Edna Gardner Whyte R.N.
